Hi everyone! I’m Jonathan and I wanted to thank you for joining us in doing some of these projects. My video series is all about letting go of being perfect and learning that making things is a process that we should enjoy as much, if not more, than the final result. These are all things it has taken me years and years to realize and I wish I would have learned them sooner, and I hope sharing them with you will help you along your creative journey!

Project 1: Random shapes drawing exercise
In this first project, we’ll be practicing playfulness over perfectionism—letting go, having fun, and embracing our “mistakes” as opportunities to see things in a new way.

Project 2: Perfectionists unite!
Get ready to make the worst drawing you can possibly make! And in the process of letting go of control, you might just discover something unexpected.

Project 3: The right side of wrong
Explore the right side of wrong, and how to make the most of your mistakes—in drawing and in life!

Project 4: What makes you unique?
Get to know the artist (you!) in this drawing exploration and celebration of the things that make each of us unique.
Project 5: Document your life in comics

Learn how journal comics can help you tell your story, explore your feelings, and track your journey through good and bumpy times.

Project 6: Play your way

In this video, I’ll share my best tips on how to plan, brainstorm, and play your way to a drawing you will love and feel proud of.

Project 7: Bring your ideas to life!

Learn the technique of under-drawing to build to a final drawing, how to use reference, and most importantly, the art of learning from our so-called mistakes.

Project 8: From trash to treasure

Did you know that drawings are 100% recyclable? In this final session we’ll take our discards and “mistakes” and turn them into something new. All it takes is a little playfulness and experimentation!
