

You're listening to the Portland Art Museum podcast. On each episode, you'll hear conversations and audio excerpts from people from the Portland Art Museum family, whether they be Museum staff, docents, volunteers, community partners, or even Museum Members. Our mission is to be an inclusive institution that facilitates respectful dialogue, debate, and the free exchange of ideas, and this podcast will do just that -- it creates a channel between the Museum and you, the audience, that you can listen to while you're on your way to work, cleaning your home, going for a walk, or even enjoying some art.

The best part is that you, the audience, are in control. Have an idea for an episode of the podcast? Visit pam.to/podcastidea to submit your suggestion, and as long as it aligns with the Museum's mission, we can help make it happen. We encourage you to also follow us on facebook, twitter, and instagram. You can also find the URL to submit an idea and our social media links in the description for this episode.

Transcriptions for each episode will be available at portlandartmuseum.org/podcast

We are a Museum for all, inviting everyone to connect with art through their own experiences, voices, and personal journeys. So be sure to subscribe, and, as Jeppe Hein says in our recently acquired piece, “Please Participate.”